Why Choose Prime Time Performance Formula for Men?

Given the combination of aging, stresses of modern life, and hormonal shifts, men often experience a decrease in sexual desire, stamina and performance as they age. Many, in hopes of reclaiming their drive, turn to men's libido supplements they know little about.

Instead of choosing one of the many men's sexual health supplements or male performance products off a drugstore shelf, turn to Prime Time Performance Formula for Men - a potent herbal men's libido supplement with ingredients shown to promote normal erections, sexual desire, male libido, endurance, and sperm count.

Prime Time Performance Formula for Men, thanks to its unique formula, works to maintain normal testosterone levels - especially important in aging men looking to support a healthy male libido and healthy sexual function, as a slowing metabolism and a decreased sexual appetite are just a couple of the realities that will affect men as they age.

Other male performance products don't deliver the quality of ingredients or cost that you can get with Prime Time Performance Formula for Men. Increase your sexual performance and vitality with the best men's sexual health supplement on the market today.

How do each of the ingredients work?

Epimedium (horny goat weed) promotes normal levels of testosterone, supports healthy male libido and promotes healthy blood vessel dilation. Schizandra is known for its ability to promote normal levels of nitric oxide (an important component of erection physiology), energy and endurance. Korean ginseng has been shown to promote sexual desire and support normal erectile quality by stimulation promoting normal nitric oxide synthesis. Tribulus terrestris supports normal erections by promoting normal levels of lutenizing hormone (LH), which promotes normal testosterone levels. Ginkgo biloba promotes normal blood circulation to erectile tissue and supports normal sexual desire. Zinc promotes normal testosterone levels, sperm count and sperm motility.
