FAQ'S

Will this bronzer make me look orange?

No. Assuming you pick the shade that will best complement your skin tone and use it appropriately, Motives Pressed Bronzer will not give you that fake tan look.

Can I use Motives Pressed Bronzer on my body too?

This product is recommended for use on the face and neck only.

Does bronzer substitute as a powder foundation?

Bronzers do not give the same amount of coverage or coloring as a foundation will, so it is usually added on top of foundation. Think of bronzer as an accessory; it usually shouldn't stand alone.

What skin type is Motives Pressed Bronzer for?

Motives Pressed Bronzer works well with any skin type and color.

How do I apply Motives Pressed Bronzer?

Use the rule of 3s. Dip a brush like a Motives Kabuki Brush or a Motives Powder Brush into the powder. Start at your temple and sweep the brush in to your cheekbone, then out and along your jaw line in the shape of a 3. These points of your face catch the most sunlight, so applying bronzer here will give you that fresh, sun-kissed look.
