

Digestive Enzymes

Isotonix Digestive Health Formula, an isotonic-capable natural product supplement, is a blend of amylase, protease, cellulase, lactase, maltase, sucrase and lipase enzymes. Enzymes are important for the body's proper absorption and utilization of food. Over time, the body's ability to make certain enzymes decreases as part of the natural ageing process. Many scientists now believe that maintaining normal levels of key enzymes is important to maintaining overall health. Enzymes are responsible for every activity of life and digestive enzymes include proteases (aid in digesting protein), amylases (aid in digesting carbohydrates) and lipases (aid in digesting fats), which function as the biological catalyst to breaking down food.

Amylase
